Leonardo DiCaprio and his Sports Illustrated swimsuit model girlfriend Kelly Rohrbach were spotted enjoying Nancy Atlas and each other at Surf Lodge in Montauk last week.

The hot-and-heavy couple were seen laid out on a daybed in the sand, sipping rosé and making out during Atlas's rocking performance. "Nobody bothered Leo—mostly because he and the girlfriend were making out the entire time and kicking back to the music," a DansPapers.com spy said.

Earlier, DiCaprio and Rohrbach were seen walking through town with a case of Wolfier Rose, and it's more than likely that's what they were drinking at Surf Lodge.

By the looks of it, DiCaprio is quite enjoying the Hamptons and all we have to offer—as well as whatever, or whoever, he brings along—this summer. During the last weekend of May, he rented an 8,000-square-foot, six-bedroom home in Wainscott for $5,000 a night, and he was spotted dining at Nick & Toni's in East Hampton with Rohrbach—who is Sports Illustrated's "Rookie of the Year"—and pal Richie Akiva, owner of the 1 Oak nightclubs, including 1 Oak Southampton.

Page 6 reports that DiCaprio and Rohrbach were first seen "getting close" in April at Akiva's 1 Oak in Los Angeles, where the Growing Pains and The Man in the Iron Mask star, who was also in Titanic and The Departed, is a regular guest. The pair took a seaplane to the Hamptons with Akiva and friends for their first visit in late May.

We're keeping our eye out for more DiCaprio and Rohrbach sightings around the Hamptons this summer. Who knows? Maybe a local home purchase is in his future?
